Jim Young Elected President of YMCA For Coming Season

Agrarian Staff Is Appointed By Advisory Group

William S. Reasonover, agricultural economics senior of Camden, was appointed editor-in-chief of the Agrarian staff. The magazine, published by the agricultural students, was suspended in 1943 because of war conditions.

Other appointments announced by Professor Ben Goodale, chairman of the faculty advisory committee, were W. F. Irwin, dairy senior of Laurens, business manager; D. B. Rosenkrans, agronomy junior of Clemson, managing editor; H. Z. Smith, agricultural economics senior of Aliston, Alabama, advertising manager; R. G. Coggins, agricultural economics senior of Innah, assistant advertising manager. Other members of the Agrarian Faculty Committee are Dr. G. H. Aull and R. A. McGinty.

The Agrarian was the first school publication started at Clemson. It has won many contest honors, being acclaimed as the outstanding southern student agricultural publication.

The following men, elected by students in their respective departments, will be department editors: G. H. Barnwell, agricultural economics; L. A. White, agronomy; L. H. Senn, entomology; W. C. Kennerty, horticulture; R. L. Grigsby and M. J. Smith, agricultural education; J. M. Dantzier, dairy; D. N. Camp, animal husbandry; and J. H. Shirer, agricultural engineering.

One issue will be published this spring, and the staff for next year will be selected from those who work on this issue.

X-Ray Equipment Addition Is Made

Addition of an X-Ray machine to the equipment of the Clemson College Department of Physics has been announced by Dr. L. D. Huff, head of the department.

This X-Ray will improve the industrial and general physics courses and make possible more research in this and other departments. The machine will be used chiefly for crystalline studies, fabric analysis, and demonstration purposes.

A few years ago a course in industrial physics was added to the Clemson curriculum. The Department now plans to secure sufficient equipment and an adequate faculty to initiate graduate courses and work leading to a Master of Science degree in physics.

Veterans Working for Subsistence Increase

Veteran students of Clemson are engaged in the fight for passage of a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by the woman Edith Nourse Rogers. The bill calls for the increased subsistence allowance for single vet students from $65 per month to $100 per month, and for married vets from $90 to $125 plus an additional $10 per month for each child.

Arrangements are being made by the National Organization of Veteran Students to conduct a nationwide campaign, supported by 1500 colleges and universities, to canvass all members of congress to fight for the passage of the bill.

Methodist Church To Give Easter Cantata

"The Lord of Life," an Easter cantata with text by Mattie R. Shannon and music by Roy E. Nolte, will be presented by the choir of the Clemson Methodist Church during the regular worship service Easter morning. Mr. Hugh Watson of the English Department is directing the choir, and Mrs. E. Freeman is accompanist.

Solo parts in the cantata will be sung by Mrs. S. R. Rhodes, Mrs. Rufus D. Lewis, Jr., Mrs. Robert Kilgo, Mrs. Wallace Scott, Jr., John D. Lane, Frank Seddon, and C. H. Watson. All duet parts will be taken by Mrs. Rufus D. Lewis, Jr., and Mrs. Ernest Blakely, Jr. The quartet will consist of M. S. Lewis, Mrs. Blakely, Mr. Watson, and Edwin A. Freeman.

Textile Mag Publishes Two Issues For Term

Tentative publication schedule released by Editor Bill Broadwell calls for two more issues of Bobbin and Baker to be published this semester.

According to present plans the next issue of the textile publication will be distributed the latter part of March and will feature an article by Dr. R. F. Poole stressing the need for graduate work in textiles.

S. R. Rhodes and S. B. Earle look over the excavating and construction work which is now underway east of Riggs Hall. Foundations have been laid for one temporary unit, and men and equipment may be seen preparing a foundation bed for another unit in the foreground.

Plan For Improving Machine Shop Is To Include Addition, Laboratories

Richard Trial To Be Given Thursday Night

"Open The Door Richard," a mock trial, will be presented to the student body on Thursday night in the college chapel. This trial (Richard vs. Mose) will be sponsored by the Calhoun Forensic Society.

There will be no admission charge to the 30 minute skit, and the student body has been invited to the "courtroom."

Converse Group Presents Play

"Dark of the Moon," a verse play, was presented by the Palmetto Players, the dramatics group of Converse College, in the College Auditorium last Thursday evening.

The play, written by Howard Richardson and William Barney, is based upon the Smoky Mountain ballad of Barbara Allen and John the Witch Boy. Miss Evelyn Day of Bethesda, Maryland, and Mr. Pedro Trakas of Davidson appeared in the leading roles.

Miss Hazel Abbott, Converse College professor of dramatics, directed the cast of thirty-two actors, which included sixteen men from radio stations WORD and WSPA, and the faculty of Converse.

Appearing in the cast was Miss Mary Russell Eleazer of Clemson. She is the daughter of J. M. Eleazer, extension information specialist.

Brigadiers Orchestra Recently Reorganized To Play At Dillon

The Brigadiers orchestra has been reorganized and is playing for the M-D-M Club dance at Dillon on April 4. This will be the first public appearance of this band since wartime conditions caused the orchestra to disband.

The band is a twelve-piece outfit under the leadership of R. G. Mace, agricultural engineering junior of Marion, and under the financial supervision of Business Manager R. Badger Gasque, architecture sophomore of Marion.

The saxophone section consists of T. F. McCraw, Hugh B. Foster, Richard E. Leiby, R. B. Gasque, and J. A. Suddeth. The brass section is composed of John O. Lewis, Jr., and W. F. Foard, trombones, and trumpet players, Theo. M. Wolfe, Phillip A. Norton, and J. A. Berman. R. G. Mace, pianist, and Julian O. Cole, drummer, are the rhythm section.

Thirty-six Amendments Initiated; Forensic Society Membership Grows

Names of 36 new members who were initiated into the Calhoun Forensic Society have been released by C. J. Hipp, president of the organization. The addition of the "Amendments" brings the total membership of the Society up to 73.

The new members are Giles F. Lewis, Jr., John D. Dobbin, Leroy Miles, Robert F. Wiggins, Leo E. Kervin, Henry Lathan, John E. Thomas, Jr., James M. Meares, James Lucas, Raydell R. Williams, Jack D. Hardin, Robert W. Berry,

Freshmen Will Meet Tonight In Chapel

All Freshmen are urged by President Arthur Banks to attend a class meeting tomorrow night at seven o'clock in the College Auditorium, for the purpose of discussing a class project.

Suggested projects are sponsoring a dancing school, presenting a play, and conducting campaigns for better campus appearance. The floor will be open for discussion of other projects and any other matters pertaining to the class.

Examinations For Civil Service Planned

Examinations for architectural, civil, cartographic, structural, and topographic positions in the U. S. Civil Service will be held in the near future in individual briefings.

All applicants must have reached their 18th birthday and must be citizens of the United States. Salaries start at $1822 per annum and run as high as $4149.60 per annum through promotions.

Blankets and other necessary forms may be obtained from the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Box 869, Savannah. All applications must be received by the board not later than April 10, 1947.

A. M. Sheriff, secretary of the local examining board in the Clemson Post Office, is prepared to give further information to any interested persons.

New Service Group of Campus Women Elect Mrs. Poole President

Mrs. R. F. Poole was elected president of a new social and service club which has been organized among the wives of faculty members and wives of other men connected with the college.

Other officers are Mrs. W. J. Barker, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Hugh McGarity, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. G. E. Metz, secretary; and Mrs. L. V. Parke, treasurer.

The club has been organized so that the ladies may become better acquainted with one another and so that they may help in solving some of the problems which are to be found on the college campus.

At the first meeting on Thursday, March 6, in the Browning Room of the Library, a program of music was presented by five members of the Greenville Music Club.

CDA Sponsors Will Not Have Corsages

CDA members will not present their dates with corsages at the remainder of this year's dances in order to reduce swelled dance week end expenses, other students follow the example set by the CDA.

Cecil R. Hodge, Harry Ulmer, James E. Millsap, Jr., Sam E. McGregor, J. T. Black, W. A. Hodges, and W. H. Hunter, also, David Banks, Joseph P. Clancy, W. A. Smithwick, Sidney L. Sanders, James R. John McCulloch Heads Minarets

John T. McCulloch, architectural senior from Charlotte, was elected president of the Minarets, local architectural society, at a fraternity banquet on Wednesday evening given in honor of Professor R. E. Lee, head of the Architectural Department.

The banquet, an annual event in the department, was held to celebrate Professor Lee's birthday. The members of the Minarets presented him with a handsome brief case.

Following the banquet a business meeting of the society was held, at which time new officers were elected for the coming year.

M. P. Booker, architectural junior of Pendleton, was elected vice-president; R. H. Folk, architectural junior of Belchertown, secretary-treasurer; P. H. Bultman, architectural engineering sophomore of Sumter, historian. John McCulloch, who has served the fraternity as historian for the past year, succeeds W. V. Strasser as president.

Jewish Group Attends Banquet In Anderson

Members of the Brandies Club were honored at a banquet in Anderson, at the Hotel Calhoun, the evening of March 12. The dinner was given by the Anderson chapter of B'nai B'rith.

The club will go to Columbia in April for a debate and a social with the Hillel chapter of the University of South Carolina.

Five Students and Two Professors Pledged By Chemistry Fraternity

Five students and two faculty members have recently been pledged by the Beta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Sigma, national chemistry fraternity.

Faculty members who were pledged are J. R. Sharpe, instructor in chemistry, and F. I. Brownlee, assistant professor of chemistry.

The requirements for entrance to this fraternity through the Clemson chapter are that each man shall plan to make some branch of chemistry his profession, have an outstanding character and have a cumulative grade-point-ratio of 6.0 as a sophomore or 4.0 as a junior.

Initiation ceremonies will be held in May for the pledges who successfully pass the two month pledgeship.

Education Seniors Get Practical Experience

Seniors in the school of education are now receiving practical teaching experience in the local high schools of Pendleton and Seneca. The subjects of vocational agriculture and industrial education are taught in these schools.

Some of the improved teaching methods which these students practice also benefit the high school teachers.

High Standards Set By Students Last Semester

Scholastic achievement of Clemson College students hit a new high during the first semester this year when fifteen students made the grade of "A" on every subject taken. This excellent standing is in contrast with the pre-war years when only one or two students maintained such a high place on the honor list.

While the complete honor list is not yet available, a preliminary review of the records indicates that the superior scholastic achievement began last summer is continuing during this session. In the 1946 summer semester, over twenty-five per cent of the students made the honor list. The honor list was first compiled in 1932, and through the years only one student in ten qualified for the list by making an average grade of "B" or above.

This improvement in the scholastic standing of students is attributed by college officials to the serious purpose of veterans and to the raising of college standards concerning eligibility to remain in school. The new rules became effective in September, and through the cooperation of students, only 203 failed to qualify to continue their enrollment for the second semester. In 1941, with a smaller student body, 231 freshmen alone were advised or required to discontinue their college education in view of their poor records.

Nine Sigma Tau Epsilon Choices For Membership

Nine students of the School of Arts and Sciences will be tapped for membership in Sigma Tau Epsilon, honorary scholastic fraternity, at a meeting tonight in the Browning Room of the Library.

The new pledges are I. S. Slobodien, senior of Plainfield, New Jersey; A. I. Levite, senior of Miami Beach, Florida; J. E. Carson, junior of Spartanburg; H. H. Provencher, junior of Greenville.

Also E. H. Rhyne, junior of Clemson; D. H. Banks, junior of St. Matthews; J. W. Frazer, junior of Charlotte, N. C.; L. M. Witherspoon, junior of Marion; and L. H. Maier, of Nulley, New Jersey.

All freshmen enrolled in industrial physics, arts and sciences, or pre-medicine courses are invited to attend the meeting, in order that they may become acquainted with the members, aims, and requirements of the fraternity.

ASME Men Attend Conference At Toccoa

All members of the local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers are now attending a meeting at the Le-Tourneau plant at Toccoa, Georgia. The two-day meeting ends tomorrow.

At recent meetings of the club talks were given by R. T. Harrison, mechanical engineering senior of Troy; and C. E. Webber, mechanical engineering junior of Spartanburg.

Plans for a convention to be held in April 7 and 8, in Atlanta, Georgia were discussed. This convention will include chapters of ASME from many of the surrounding states.

Ag Ec Society Hears Talks By Dr. Johnson

H. S. Johnson, agriculture and animal industry '10, director of information for the Farm Credit Administration in Columbia, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Agricultural Economics Society Thursday night, March 6.

Mr. Johnson showed the group two reels, which were "Banking on the Land" and "What is a Farm Worth?" While on the campus Mr. Johnson instructed several classes in the study of farm credit.

Tentative plans were also made for an Agricultural Economics Society banquet to be held in the near future.

Addison B. Carwile Is Elected To Presidency Of Alpha Phi Omega

Addison B. Carwile, agricultural engineering senior of Abbeville, was elected president of the Gamma Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary service fraternity. Carwile, elected in a close contest among three candidates, will succeed C. R. Smith as head of the local group.

Other officers named at the same meeting are David H. Banks, arts and sciences junior of St. Matthews, vice-president; Frank W. IX, textile manufacturing junior of Charlottesville, Virginia, treasurer; and Richardson T. Mattison, arts and sciences junior, of Aiken secretary.

For historian, there was a tie between O. K. Rudd, mechanical engineering junior of Savannah, Georgia, and W. W. Gignilliat, chemical engineering senior of Macon, Georgia.

Block C Ball Will Feature Big Athletic Week-end Mar. 28-29

Main attraction of an athletic week-end March 28 and 29, will be the annual Block "C" Ball with the Clemson Junglers playing. The series of dances to be held in the field house will include the regular Friday night semi-formal and the Saturday night informal.

Master Magician And Company To Perform Tuesday, March 25th

America's master magician, McDonald Birch, and his company of artists will give two performances in the college chapel on Tuesday, March 25. The attraction will be sponsored by the "Block-C" Club.

All over the United States the Birch Show of Magic has entertained capacity audiences, and it is considered by critics as one of the best and most spectacular magic shows of its kind.

Among the many trick and acts of entertainment that Magician Birch will perform is a mystifying "box-escape" act with the assistance of a prominent Clemson personality. The box, which will be used in the act, is being constructed by members of the "Block-C" club and will be on public display in downtown Clemson for the benefit of the skeptical and the interested.

A matinee performance of one hour duration will begin at 4:30, and an evening performance of two hours will start at 8:00. For the matinee, admission prices will be thirty cents for students and sixty-five cents for adults; prices for the evening show will be sixty-five cents for students and one dollar and thirty cents for adults.

Dr. Aull Appears On Farm Radio Program

Dr. G. H. Aull, head of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, appeared recently on the American Farm Hour over the American Broadcasting Company.

The program, which originated in Chicago, was heard throughout the country. The topic of Aull's talk was "What Is Happening to the American Farm?"

Dr. Aull also participated in "The Peoples Forum" over Station WIS, Columbia, on March 9. The subject discussed was "Country and Municipal Finance in South Carolina." Appearing on the same program were state Senator Yancey McLeod, of Columbia, Mayor Edwin Boyles, of Sumter, and City Councilman James Love, of Greenville.

Faculty Men Attend Meeting At Columbia

More than 30 members of the Clemson College staff were on hand for the 59th annual convention of the South Carolina Education Association held in Columbia. Guest speakers for two of the departmental meetings from Clemson were Dr. G. H. Aull, head of the Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Department, and Dr. James E. Ward, head of the Social Sciences Department.

Dr. Aull's subject was "What Needs to be Done to Improve the Level of Living in South Carolina." Dr. Ward spoke on "The Economic Value of a Well Rounded Education Program in South Carolina."

Five Students and Two Professors Pledged By Chemistry Fraternity

Five students and two faculty members have recently been pledged by the Beta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Sigma, national chemistry fraternity.

Faculty members who were pledged are J. R. Sharpe, instructor in chemistry, and F. I. Brownlee, assistant professor of chemistry.

Initiation ceremonies will be held in May for the pledges who successfully pass the two month pledgeship.

Students To Receive Slip-Stick This Week

First issue of Slip-Stick, dent engineering magazine, will be off the press this week, according to an announcement by Editor Walter Terrell. This issue will feature a two-color cover and articles by faculty and student contributors.

The junior staff will be selected in the near future and will work on the next edition. This staff will be selected from engineering students who are members of the junior class.

Patrick And Robinson Fill Other Positions; Assume Office In May

James N. Young, agricultural economics junior of Florence, was elected president of the YMCA at the election held on March 2. Young defeated J. G. Hardee, agricultural economics junior of Loris for this position.

Other officers elected were Vice President Walter M. Patrick, civil engineering junior of Ruffin; who won over Dan D. Pate, arts and sciences junior of Cassatt; and Secretary Alfred B. Robinson, arts and sciences senior of Basley, who defeated Francis B. Hutto, chemistry senior of Jacksonville, Florida.

Only three hundred students participated in the elections which were held at the two yepers programs on Sunday, March 2.

The new officers will be installed on the first Sunday in May and they will assume their new duties at that time.

The following men were re-elected to the faculty advisory board: Dr. J. E. Ward, Mr. B. E. Goodale, Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, and Mr. S. M. Martin.

Retiring officers of the YMCA are President Dan A. Kennerly, Vice President Jack Reese, and Secretary Dan D. Pate.

Theatre To Seat 800 Will Be Constructed Downtown Soon

Construction of a new theater, adjacent to the L. C. Martin Drug Company, will be started by the Star Theaters of Clemson, Inc., in the near future.

A charter to own and operate the theater has been obtained by the firm and work on the structure will begin as soon as the building permit is issued.

The theater is to be air-conditioned and have a seating capacity of 800 persons. Total cost of construction is expected to be about $75,000.

C. H. Morgan of Greenville, president of the corporation, indicated that construction will be by the Triangle Construction Company.

Rifle Men Rated Ninth In Nation

In the National Intercollegiate Rifle Team Matches, Clemson placed ninth, and in the William Randolph Hearst Trophy Matches, the R. O. T. C. team came in eighth spot.

Of the total year-long record for the team has been 12-12 so far this year. They have defeated Georgia Military Academy, Riverside Military Academy, Columbia Military Academy, Gulf Port Military Academy, University of North Dakota, Porter Military Academy, University of Alabama, University of Georgia, Wofford College, University of Tennessee, and the University of Pittsburgh in telegraphic matches.

The remainder of the schedule includes matches with Sewanee Military Academy, Tennessee Military Academy, West Virginia University, and the University of Hawaii. Shoulder to shoulder matches will be with Davidson College, March 21, and Presbyterian college March 29. The Davidson match will be held here and the Presbyterian match will be held in Clinton.

NOT THAT IT MATTERS

By HAROLD F. LANDITH

Last week Clemson was officially recognized as a member of the Semi-Pro Wrestling and Gal-Kissing Society. Wolves and their mates from all over the state (and foreign countries like Ga. and N. C.) met here for a two-day howl. The members of the smaller fraternities, I Bumma Sig and I Tappa Kegg, were made life members of this new "snarling" society.

The society met at the college field house with the master Wolf-er and Gal-Kisser, Bobby Byrne, in charge. The meeting was opened with the strains of "I'm Gonna Love That Girl" and ended with a second helping of the same. There was plenty of hot-stoving and jiving, and jiving and hot stoving, and hot-stoving without the jiving.

C. D. A. Punch, better known as Atomic Bombs (called Atomic Bombs because you have to go around and pick up the pieces after the dance), put everyone in the groove. One little lady went to a refreshment stand and asked for "some of that stuff that tickles." "Sorry, lady," said the waiter in charge, "we have no more Atomic Bombs, but I have a fire cracker that makes a good substitute."

BETWEEN PROFESSORS

During this passionate vertical struggle known as dancing, two well-known Clemson Octogenarians were watching a couple on the floor. "When I was in college," one said to the other, "we danced far enough apart for a chaperon to walk between us. These days, if a man doesn't hold his partner like she is a jewel in his hand, she thinks he is treating her like a sister. Look at that girl! I can't understand what is holding that dress up." (Come now, Prof., don't be naive. Even a freshman knows that!) Moral: In an immoral conversation, if you don't sow wild oats when you're young, there'll be no harvest when you're old.

ASBESTOS LETTER

Van Johnson has nothing on me. I have been trying to jump words for two weeks, and already I get a letter like this on pink asbestos from Greenville:

Dear Droop (or is it Snoop): We read your column last week, but we can't understand why they call you "Influenced." Chris, they call me "Influenced" to distinguish me from the Social Psychologist who is known as Influence.

It was our first time at Clemson, but everyone was kind to us. All Johnny's friends wanted to show me the points of interest. After the dance I late-dated until three. I got into Barracks No. 1 by mistake. I opened the door to what I thought was my room and found a cadet asleep on the bed. Poor boy, I thought, he had gone through a lot tonight. So I sat down in a chair and waited until—well, almost dawn.

When daylight came, I realized my error and rushed into my barracks. Johnny took me to the "S" for breakfast, but it was so crowded we ate at Ptoimaine Tilley's. Why do they call it that? (Silly girl!)

In the afternoon we went to a movie. It was so dark and crowded that I saw half the picture before some cadet punched me in the ribs and said, "Stand up a minute, Miss. I want to stretch my legs." Wasn't he polite! Why, he didn't even get angry.

After supper we went for a drive. Dr. Sampey says someone is trying to perfect an automobile driver for automobiles. Sure hope they do. Keeping one hand on the wheel sure cramps a man's style, and you lose so much time parking along the roadside.

I did have a monstrous time, and I'm looking forward to the Taps Ball.

Sincerely,
Betty S

In her P. S. Betty wants to thank the men of 1-337 for the comfortable chair!

EARLY FALL IN SPRING

The post office officials are complaining about the volume of mail coming in with red lip prints on the front and back of letters.

Dr. Poole has authorized a search of packages to prevent any blondes and red heads from coming in by mail. The cadet who pulled the wool over a little girl's eyes should return, unclaimed, any package large enough to contain a lamb.

Saturday classes were full of moonstruck lovers. The new historian of the Veterans' Organization was struck so hard he had to remain in the hospital two days in order to recover from the fangs of love. Many kept faded violets under their pillows; some boys keep Four Roses in their trunks. One whose girl late-dated on him is keeping a loaded shotgun for some lucky fellow who wants a nice rest in mother earth.

But if you're bothered by any committed or omitted sins, be sure to get a bottle of "No-Worry" today. The manufacturer, Carodemus, Inc., guarantees this little tonic to make you lucky in love, prosperous in business, and give you A's on all subjects.

A JUNIOR
THREE YEARS FROM NOW

Mr. Jones: Has your business prospered from Pete's training at Clemson?

Mr. Brunson: I'll say it has. He mixes the drinks at all our parties.

TALK of the TOWN

By TALLY S. FOX

STUDENT WELFARE COMMITTEE

Machinery for the solution of student problems has been molded. We believe that new responsibilities taken on by Dr. Poole's Student Welfare Committee will have a more far-reaching effect on the student body than anything happening at Clemson since the advanced R. O. T. C. unit left for the wars in 1943.

Within this group lies the potentialities of solving many existing problems and preventing serious controversies in the future.

The college authorities are taxed with routine matters. In order to maintain a degree of efficiency their time must be budgeted. The committee has advanced the idea of submitting specified recommendations on all matters deemed worthy of the President's consideration. This will give the President an authentic, concise report which will facilitate adequate consideration with the minimum requirement of time.

If one ventured into the barrel of student "gripes" and dissatisfaction, one would find the bottom literally caved with a single material. Ignorance of fact. Herein lies the principal point of attack for this committee.

A new low in "gripes" could be visualized when the news of this action reached us. The difficulties which have arisen because of the lack of official information will soon be non-existent.

Even in the face of unforeseen obstacles which may confront the committee in pursuing its program, we feel that the possibilities of this group are unlimited.

Perhaps we are being over-optimistic concerning the outcome of this move. But we rate this as the beginning of the end of misunderstanding between the student body and the administration.

RUMORS FLYING

Ignorance of fact breeds misunderstanding; misunderstanding, dissatisfaction. The Student Activity Committee has taken steps to prevent such conditions from arising. We hope that the student body will take advantage of the

Letters to Tom
Clemson

Editor's Note—Many letters, including one from the Committee on Religion and Ethics, have been received in our office. This particular letter was felt to be of greatest student interest because the writer was appointed a Judge for the occasion.

Dear Tom:
My first impulse to write this letter anonymously was rejected because I believe what I am going to say strongly enough to acknowledge the authorship.

Now I'm not exactly a prude. I have heard stories about as raw as they come and have told a couple from time to time, but I feel my audiences have been selected with a little more consideration—a little more honor and respect, if you please—that was accorded the men and women, the boys and girls, and the children who very naturally went to the college chapel March 9 for a Stunt Night of fun and enjoyment.

Maybe at 34 I'm getting old-fashioned. Maybe it's because I have a couple of young sons and a young daughter coming along. Maybe it's because Mother tried to teach me not to like—too much—the kind of things I heard to night when they are told before mixed groups. Maybe it's because my wife is trying to teach her children along the same lines. I don't know. I'm kinda confused, a little dazed and considerably upset.

I feel as though I have seen something which really wasn't meant for me, which wasn't meant for anyone. It's very much like the sensation which follows a bad dream. It's a relief to know that it isn't true—and I'm sure it isn't true that it was the intention of Stunt Night to send a bunch of people home with the feeling that they wanted to brush their teeth, scour their mouths, their very souls to remove something which wasn't supposed to be put there.

There is, I believe, a difference in fun and filth. And yet I also believe that, in carefully selected machinery of this group in the confirmation of reports.

The rumor spotlight of the past few weeks has been held by student speculations on the number who failed to qualify for continued enrollment at the beginning of the second semester. Some sources had the number up to the thousand mark!

A release from the Registrar's Office rendered these reports null and void. The scholastic achievement of the students was highly praised.

From a total enrollment of 2964, only 203 failed to return because of deficient work. "In 1941, with a smaller student body, 231 freshmen alone were advised or required to discontinue their college education in view of their poor records."

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are the order of the day for the CDA. Their presentation of Tiger-Midwinters was praised from many sources.

According to one report, "This was the best conducted dance since 1941." We believe that our hopes for bigger and better dances are forthcoming.

The debris, left by the Friday and Saturday night crowds, could not be found on the following morning. This was not because of the absence of such an either night. The CDA staffs get credit for this commendable action.

With the constructive criticism and full cooperation of the student body, the Dance Association will be able to meet the desires of the student body in the near future.

situations, the two might combine without harmful effects. There is, I am certain, such a thing as thoughtlessness. I believe it abounded at Stunt Night. I sincerely believe Stunt Night would have had a different atmosphere had not thoughtlessness gotten the upper hand.

My faith in Clemson students and the homes from which they come convinces me that it was not the intention of Stunt Night to get off base. And yet as the crowd left the chapel I heard a campus mother say: "If that is the way these students think, then I forbid another one of them to visit our daughter."

Now, wait a minute fellows. That is the very kind of mother you want the girl you are going to marry to have. That is the way you want your mother to feel about your sister. That is the way you are going to want your wife to feel about your daughter. I'm not preaching an idealistic sermon. I know.

I have a daughter. She wasn't there and it would not have mattered if she had been. She is understood. But I also have an eight year old son. He would have loved to have gone to Stunt Night, but he had a cold. He would have understood, and yet he wouldn't have. He would have understood, but I also have a very subtle about it. Tomorrow, or the next day, or next week he would have aped some of it for his sister.

A few weeks ago I let him go into the ring at the Carolina boxing match and put on a show for the students. I'm just as well satisfied tonight that he didn't see the show the students put on for him.

Yes, I know Stunt Night was by the students and for the students, but posters advertising for a community audience were all over the campus. And much of the audience came from the community. Sure, the ladies were invited to leave and the doors were pointed out. They were invited to come and invited to leave. ??? I don't get it.

Get me straight. I'm not pointing a personal finger at the master of ceremonies, or anyone else. I know the MC personally and have both respect and admiration for him. I know that he had not the intention of harm in those two hours of student fun. It is the "student fun" that has me upset.

If, by some remote chance, I am ever called upon to appear before your mothers, sisters, and wives, and daughters, and sons

DR. POOLE SAYS THAT..

YOUR CLEMSON

Some years ago a distinguished professor in a Land-Grant college in another state appraised me of the splendid heritage and tradition of Clemson College. He was thinking of the founder, Thomas G. Clemson, a great scientist and engineer in his own rights. He was thinking also of the great statesman, John C. Calhoun, father-in-law of Mr. Clemson, because the college now occupies the hallowed ground and one time home of these illustrious men. It is aptly stated that we study the past because of its great promise of the future.

The Will of Mr. Clemson is without peer and its language is clearly written that it offers no opportunity or misunderstanding and error. It has been conceived several times during the fifty-three years' history of the college. The Supreme Court has had occasion to verify its accuracy and attest its worth. It is not only a great expression of legal value, but is based on well conceived plans that promulgate wisdom and foresightedness. It provides for the protection of the college from the vicissitudes that sometimes befall man, state, and government through a Board of Trustees composed of seven life and self-perpetuating members and six legislative elected members who shall always have complete control of all its affairs. The Will also uses these words "a high seminary of learning" in science and arts pertaining to education in agriculture and engineering. This means that the curricula of the college should always be advanced to the highest perfection of scholarship.

BASED ON WILL

Every Clemson man and all students should read the Clemson Will. It merits our appreciation and our diligent protection. The course of Clemson is clearly set. The provisions of the Clemson Will, duly accepted by the Legislature, make it reasonably certain that one can visualize and prophesy the quality and importance of Clemson College one hundred and seven or thousand years hence. Clemson College is a contributor to education in this State, but it goes far beyond its classrooms and halls into the homes, the farms and in the cities, and a great benefactor to all life in South Carolina.

The course of the College shall not be changed except by adding elements of strength. The principles of the Will must not be violated. I do not believe the alumni of the College and the people of South Carolina will ever countenance a repudiation of the commonwealth's honor or in any sense lessen the protection if Clemson College in the future. The Board of Trustees, the college administration, and the faculty have kept faith with the aims and objectives so clearly set forth in the Clemson Will.

CLEMSON'S WILL

For your enlightenment and study I am quoting below a few extracts from the Clemson Will: "My purpose is to establish an agricultural college which will afford useful information to the farmers and mechanics, therefore it should afford thorough instruction in agriculture and the natural sciences connected therewith. It should combine, in practical, physical and intellectual education, and should be a high seminary of learning in which the graduate of the common schools can commence, pursue and finish the course of studies terminating in thorough, theoretic and practical instruction in those sciences and arts which bear directly upon agriculture, but I desire to state plainly that I wish the trustees of said institution to have full authority and power to regulate all matters pertaining to the institution—to fix the course of studies, to make the rules for the government of the same, and to change them, as in their judgment, experience may prove necessary, but to always bear in mind that the benefits herein sought to be bestowed are intended to benefit agricultural and mechanical industries. I trust that I do not exaggerate the importance of such an institution for developing the material resources of the State by affording to its youth the advantages of scientific culture, and that I do not overrate the intelligence of the legislature of South Carolina, ever distinguished for liberality, in assuming that such appropriations will be made as will be necessary to supplement the fund resulting from the bequest herein made."

—and the State, if it accepts the donation, shall never increase the board of trustees to a number greater than thirteen in all, nor shall the duties of said board be taken away or conferred upon any other man or body of men. The seven trustees appointed by me shall always have the right, and the power is hereby given them and their successors, which right the legislature shall never take away or abridge, to fill all vacancies which may occur in their number by death, resignation, refusal to act, or otherwise; but the legislature may provide, as it sees proper, for the appointment or election of the other six trustees, if it accepts the donation. And I hereby request the seven trustees above named, or such of them as may be living, —

President
March 12, 1947

—and fathers—I am going to assume that they prefer fun with-out filth. In the name of men and women, boys and girls, and children, and yourselves, may I ask that you consider a similar consideration.

As you will remember, I was one of the judges at Stunt Night. Well, this is my judgement.

JOE SHERMAN, '34

DO YOU THINK A COURSE IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION SHOULD BE ADDED TO CLEMSON'S CURRICULUM?

H. S. Boozer, 1, Denmark: I think it would be a good course as an elective.

J. M. Farmer, 1, Anderson: Yes, if it's an elective, but I don't go for this jumping around before dawn.

E. J. Corley, 4, Lexington: Yes, I do.

H. E. Culp, 4, Lancaster: Yes, provided we have proper instruction.

H. N. Black, 3, Ruffin: Yes, and I am in favor of having it required for the ROTC.

G. P. Reid, 2, Greenville: Yes, I think the ROTC should have it.

W. D. Peak, 1, Arlington, Va.: I don't think so. If a student wants physical training, the campus offers ample facilities, and it is up to the individual student to take advantage of them.

B. D. Edwards, 2, Canton, N. C.: Yes, if I don't have to take it.

V. G. McDaniel, 2, Tatum: Voluntarily, yes; compulsory, no.

G. H. Baker, 2, Cadet: ROTC, yes; veterans, no.

C. E. Webber, 4, Spartanburg: Yes, if the college will allow enough time for it.

M. B. Carmichael, 4, Lynchburg: It's a swell idea, but I hope I'm not here to see it.

B. M. Brodie, 2, Aiken: Yes, we certainly should.

W. M. Patrick, 3, Smoaks: Yes, it would encourage more boys to come to Clemson.

M. Binnicker, 1, Norway: Yes, definitely.

E. J. Bedenbaugh, 3, Prosperity: Yes, I do.

T. A. Covington, 4, Norway: No, Clemson needs more important major courses, such as business administration and veterinary science.

F. T. Webb, 1, Union: No, Clemson lacks too many more important courses.

W. C. Talbert, 2, Columbia: It is important for boys who want to be coaches.

J. M. Ervin, 4, Darlington: Yes; Coach Bob Jones says that it would give us an opportunity to get more and better football players.

J. T. Hill, 2, Timmons: Yes; it would be a good minor course.

J. G. Gravelle, 3, DeLands, Fla.: Yes, it would be a good idea.

M. H. Baker, 2, Mullins: Why not? Lots of other schools have it.

W. C. Buchanan, 1, Marietta: Yes; it would give Clemson better athletes.

R. G. Smith, 1, Greenville: Yes; I think it would give Clemson better athletic directors.

A. E. Willis, 1, Gainesville, Ga.: Yes; Clemson needs such a course badly.

CORRECTION

Contrary to the statement we made in our last column, the Glee Club does not receive credit as an academic course. This subject was under consideration at the closing of last semester, however, we had no information to verify that action had not been taken.

CLEAN CHAPEL

Many times the necessity for a new chapel has been discussed, but it is plainly seen that this urgent need along with so many others, will have to come with time.

Nevertheless, as the need is pressing and the chapel used quite constantly, we would suggest an alteration, reconditioning, or even a good coat of paint. The condition of the stage is atrocious and the subject should be given much consideration, especially since visitors are asked to perform at Clemson. No doubt, college officials are concerned, but may we suggest that some action be taken. Surely we will get a new chapel in the next few years, but for now can't we improve the situation as it stands at present?

HIGH PRESSURE

We are not sure who issues permission for outsiders—of the undesirable type, that is—to enter the barracks, but it seems that a crew of high pressure salesmen have made a clean sweep of barracks number eight. Who these persons are, where they come from, and upon whose authority they have solicited their wares in the barracks is beyond our knowledge, but something ought to be done to prevent recurrence.

LATE DISMISSAL

Lately it has been brought to our attention that some of the professors have been very inconsiderate about letting their classes out on time. The action which brings the condition to our attention is that taken on the part of one of the M. S. instructors. He made it a policy to assess demerits to the members of his classes who are tardy. We do not criticize this instructor the least, but we do suggest that other instructors watch their time-pieces and let their classes out just as promptly as they are begun.

MORE TELEPHONES

The need for a better system of communication has been a standing issue at Clemson for a long time. We are aware of the difficulty involved in receiving a telephone call through the guard room. However, not all of the blame can be put on the members of the guard. It is ridiculous for anyone to even imagine that telephone calls for all students living in the barracks can be received through the few phones we have.

We are glad to know that the Tiger Brotherhood is taking steps to see if this situation cannot be remedied.

Student Welfare

There is a possibility that many student problems will find their solution in the hands of the newly organized Student Welfare Committee. This new organization is composed of representatives from the faculty and student body, and its job will be to hear all student problems which are presented.

After each problem has been thoroughly studied and discussed, recommendations will be made to the authorities who are in a position to make the needed improvements. Any student or faculty member who has knowledge of an existing problem may meet with the Welfare Committee and secure clarification of the issue.

The Tiger feels that this organization will greatly simplify the manner in which student problems are focused and clarified. We believe that much good will come from this organization, and we will support it to the fullest.

Improvement Made

The Student Welfare Committee has recommended that improvements be made in the Intramural program.

After making a careful study of the situation, this group asked that the President make changes. The President acted immediately.

According to the committee's survey, one of the chief inadequacies of the Intramural program was the fact that athletic equipment was not readily available to the students. As a remedy, the committee requested that a centrally located equipment distribution point be obtained. It was also suggested that personnel be hired to stay on duty each afternoon from two until eight-thirty for the purpose of issuing equipment to any member of the student body.

These recommendations have been acted upon, but plans for a more complete and adequate program are being studied by members of the committee, and when their survey is completed, further recommendations will be made.

The Tiger welcomes this response, for we are confident that if all student problems are handled in this manner—much will be accomplished.

Book Situation

Settlement of the "Book Situation" has been made to the satisfaction of the immediate parties concerned.

The Tiger feels that the student body will consider the issue closed when a book store and exchange is established by the college itself.

Some individuals failed to understand why veteran students should concern themselves with the operation of a down-town business, when the book supply costs are borne by Uncle Sam. However, we wish to point out that many of the veterans are thinking ahead. They are looking into the future when all Clemson students will again purchase their supplies with cash.

EQUIPMENT FOR EVERYONE

Sports at Clemson seem to be on the up and up. In the next couple of days, sporting equipment will be transferred from the "Y" to a room in the first barracks. A man will be given a full time job taking care of the equipment. This will enable boys who do not go out for the varsity teams to draw equipment, and use it to the fullest.

After spring practice is out of the way, Coach Howard has stated that he is willing to devote part of his time to boys who have never tried to qualify for varsity teams, but who desire to participate in such sports. The equipment used by the varsity football team will be at the disposal of the students if enough interest is shown in the program. This equipment will be issued to men who work out under the supervision of Howard, but no student will be able to sign out individual equipment.

INSIDE LOOKING AT THE BOXERS

Clemson's boxing team made a good showing at the University of Maryland recently in the Southern Conference boxing meet. The Tigers appeared little known in those parts before arriving in town, but before festivities were over, they proved that they were the team most likely to succeed.

Papers around Maryland stated before the tourney got underway that Maryland and The Citadel were co-favorites, and that South Carolina and North Carolina would be leading contenders. The papers further stated that Clemson was also entered.

In the first night of elimination, the Tigers won out in five different classes. From our grapevine, we hear that The Citadel had three fights taken away from them the same night because of poor refereeing and inadequate judging. According to the Clemson boxers, you had to knock your man out if you expected to win the match.

In the final bouts, Maryland placed six men, while five men represented the Tigers. "Spook" Pulkinen came through with a knockout, as did Jerry Orr. This was Orr's fourth fight in his pugilist career, and three of them have ended in KO's, two of them coming in the tourney. Johnny Lindsey was beaten in a close decision, and the general opinion is that he beat his Maryland opponent. In the first round, Bill Brown knocked out his rival only to have the bell save him. In the third round of the same fight, Brown again put his opponent on the canvas, but we understand that Brown was not given credit for this knock down. One Clemson boxer stated that he saw one of the judges add up the score of this fight three times before it came out to suit him. A reverse decision in either the Lindsey or the Brown fight would have given Clemson the tournament.

Maryland further proved that they were out to win the carnival by sending an injured man into the ring in the finals. This man obtained a cut over the eye in the semi-final bouts, and entered the finals with the stitches still in the wound. The coach probably figured that the man would lose the bout, but it would mean three points . . . the three that beat us.

Last week, we stressed an article on the poor refereeing that was shown in the basketball season just ended. The same can be said for boxing. We aren't stating these facts just because we lost the fight by three points. This was a championship tournament, and the best of everything SHOULD be available, including judges and referees.

We believe in the future that if the tournament site is left up to Clemson and The Citadel, it will not be held at the University of Maryland. Coach Jones states that he would like to see Clemson get the next ring meet, but right now, there is a serious housing shortage around Tigertown, and the visiting teams would probably have to camp down on the Seneca River.

Coach Bob Jones and the seven fighters competing in the tournament are to be commended for their splendid showing in all the fights. This is the first post war team that Clemson has produced, and they gave a good showing. Plans are already underway for next season, and the coach hopes to card about twice as many matches for the coming season. Bill Hunter will be the only regular not returning next fall. Several new additions are expected to be out next season.

NEED A "FAG"?

For you men who are always running short of cigarette money, here is a chance to win yourself a few "fags".

Charlie Cheatham, who is Chesterfield representative for Clemson, has announced that a carton of those "All-ways Milder, Better Tasting and Cooler Smoking" cigarettes will be given away to the person who guesses the score to any Clemson baseball game this season. The contest includes all games at home and abroad. If no one guesses the correct score, the person coming the closest to the final count will be awarded 200 "weeds".

Scores for the games must be turned into the guard room by six o'clock the day before the game is played. Only one guess per person will be allowed. Winners will be notified, and will be able to pick up their cigarettes in room 7-229.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

. . . Clemson was the first team in the state to use a football huddle? . . . Walter "Boots" Payne, star of Clemson's football team several seasons back, has withdrawn from Auburn and entered Colorado A. and M. where he expects to play football for the coming year? . . . The Tigers were the first state team to originate calling of signals in football? . . . George Doyle and John Sukula, promising end and back respectively on the football team, have left school to return to their native Pennsylvania? . . . Clemson's football team is believed to have originated the forward pass before Notre Dame? . . . Eighteen new tennis courts are to be constructed on the hill just above the football stadium? . . . Four volley ball courts on the quadrangle and 4 on the small parade ground will soon be marked off?

Baseball Team Opens Season Next Week

According to Coach Randy Hinson, Clemson's baseball squad needs plenty of hot sunshine and clear weather to round into shape before the '47 season begins. Hard at work each afternoon are many diamond prospects working on baseball fundamentals.

Intramural Basketball Ends; Spring Sports Program Begins

Interest in the "Y" sponsored Intramural Basketball Tournament was climaxed with the championship game between the top veteran team and the best squad from the cadet corps in the Clemson College Field House last Friday night; however the results of this contest were unavailable when The Tiger went to press. The participants in this contest were determined by the winners of the two semi-final games on last Thursday night.

The basketball tournament has been carried out in a very satisfactory manner to date showing maximum cooperation on the parts of all responsible for the event. Mr. Roy Cooper, the Intramural Director, with the help of the team captains of the veterans squads and the A & R officers of the program of cadets, have done a splendid job of promoting recreational activities among the students. Without the fullest cooperation of all groups concerned, this program would have been unsuccessful.

According to a statement by Mr. Cooper, head of the intramural program at Clemson, all those students, both veteran and ROTC, interested in entering the "Y" sponsored tennis, swimming, and track meets should begin practicing for the tournaments as soon as possible. A & R officers should encourage their men to get in as much helpful practice as possible before the tournaments begin. In the case of the vets, it is desirable that they form teams as in basketball so that they can be informed through team captains. This system has been very successful with the basketball teams.

Softball games will be played beginning April 1. It is hoped that at least as many teams will be entered and have been participating in the basketball contests. With days of sunshine ahead and winter's chilling breezes behind, it should be easy to have an immense following in the athletic contests that are scheduled.

Pruitt Named On All-State Quint

In a poll conducted by the Charlotte News recently, coaches and sports writers of South Carolina named an all state team which included one representative from Clemson, one from Wofford, and three from South Carolina.

The first team included June Pruitt forward of Clemson, Charles Seay of Wofford at forward, Al Adams, center, of Carolina, and guards "Cy" Szakaesi and Henry Martin of Carolina. Another all state team, sponsored by the Associated Press, was chosen by the state's leading sports writers. Included in the all state first team lineup were Bob Stewart of Furman and Henry Martin of Carolina tied for one of the forward spots, Charlie Seay of Wofford at the other forward, Al Adams of Carolina at center, guard Ansel Bridwell of Furman, and guard Ernie Nelson of College of Charleston.

The second team included June Pruitt and Dewey Quinn of Clemson. W. A. Holshouser placed honorable mention.

ence Johnson, Dalton, Ga.; J. J. Harris, Pelham, Ga.; W. L. Bryant, Bishopville; V. F. Linder, Bishopville; Marvin Youngblood, Talladega, Ala.; Jack Lever, Clemson.

Also, J. G. Fishburner, P. H. Starr, A. W. Beach, Jr., all of Walterboro; Robert S. Davis, Columbia; P. H. Adams, Newark, N. J.; C. R. Mahaffey, Spartanburg; J. A. Mauldin, Greenville; S. O. Pegues, Cheraw; L. J. Walker, Greenville; Calhoun Lemon, Barnwell; Robert L. Bishop, Perry; M. Buckner, W. R. Carter, T. B. Corbett, W. B. Easterlin, W. L. Easterlin, H. Stanley Fellers, J. H. Hayden, E. J. McDaniel, John D. Murray, Howard A. Nelson, O. E. Pritchard, Marion W. Sams, Paul D. Seabrook, W. H. Sticky, D. C. Smith, all of Walterboro; Johnny Austin, Jack R. Williams, C. L. Gaston, Jr., Johnny Brailsford, all of Orangeburg; Eugene R. Stewart, Fountain Inn; E. F. Gettys, McCormick; Henry B. Harper, Anderson; T. M. Walsh, Savannah, Ga.; Donald E. Brown, Anderson.

Bengal Squad To Play Anderson In Practice Games

Only eight days separate the Tiger baseball team from their initial encounter with N. C. State. With this in mind, Coach Randy Hinson is sending his baseball hopefuls through strenuous workouts each afternoon, weather permitting. The Tigers will meet a trio of strong baseball nines in their first three tilts. N. C. State will be here Tuesday, March 25, followed by Michigan State on Wednesday and Duke on Friday. Before the collegiate slate gets under way, Coach Hinson has arranged several games with Anderson of the Tri-State League. These games will be played on a home and home basis.

Coach Hinson has yet to decide on his starting nine, but several of last year's stars are again pounding the horsehide. Dewey Quinn is expected to be shifted to the outfield, and roam the outer gardens with Homer Coker and Tom Cassels. Billy Davis is showing promise at third, and may get the nod to fill the post left vacant by Quinn. June Pruitt and Bolick are battling out the first base position. Gillespie is again back at shortstop, but is being given a run for his money by several newcomers. The second sack position is still wide open.

The pitching and catching will be the least of the coach's worries. James Hazel, brother of mound star, Joe, and Cleveland are fighting hard for first string catcher. The pitching staff will be headed by Joe Landrum, Joe Hazel, Luther Rentz, Joye, Green, and Fleming, all right-handers. Kirkpatrick will head the porters.

Clemson Netmen Point To Opener Against Furman

Clemson's tennismen began practice in earnest last Monday after several weeks of hampering weather. With only two members from last season's squad are hand, Coach Hoke Sloan has been working hard with new prospects to get ready for the first match March 28 with Furman.

Players returning are Ed Rhyne and Tommy Thornhill. Among the newcomers showing promise are Owen Judy, "Hank" Walker, Billy Wannamaker, W. H. Cook, George Murray, and Roy Bobo. The doubles team of Walker and Murray has been showing considerable progress and should develop into a strong unit.

Last year the Tigers won eight and lost five scheduled games. No tournament was held last season, but this year's tournament will be held in Clinton on May 15.

Boxing, Basketball Block Winners Named

Basketball Coach Banks McFadden and Boxing Coach Bob Jones have received word that the Clemson College Athletic Council has approved their recommendations that nine varsity letters in basketball and eight in boxing be awarded. In addition each student manager will receive a letter.

The hardwood contestants to be honored with Block "C" sweaters are June Pruitt, Dewey Quinn, Furman Riddle, Leonard Riddle, W. A. Holshouser, Edis Freeman, Jack Long, Dwight Bell, Frank Gillespie and manager W. E. Burnette.

Outstanding boxers to receive Block "C" sweaters are Johnny Lindsey, Jerry Orr, Carl Pulkinen, Ed Maney, Bill Brown, Don Murray, Rusty Donkle, Bill Hunter and manager K. R. Bell, Jr.

Walter Camp of Yale first originated football signals. This was in 1882.

Clemson Boxers Take Second Place In Southern Conference Tournament

June Pruitt Outstanding Athlete In All Major Sports At Tigertown

G. June "General" Pruitt, textile manufacturing sophomore from Greer, is one of Clemson's outstanding athletes. During the last two years he has earned five Block "C" letters—two for football, two for basketball, and one for baseball. June played football and basketball in high school and was named on the all-state high school five in 1938.

After graduating from high school in 1938, Pruitt worked until he enlisted in the Army in January, 1941. June served three years in the Mediterranean Theater in the field artillery and was discharged in 1945 with the rank of master sergeant. He married Carolyn Jones of Greer on June 9, 1946.

Pruitt's sports career has been colorful since he entered Clemson.

He was top scorer on the basketball team for the last two seasons and was honored by the Charlotte News by being named on its All-State team these two years. Pruitt was the only repeater from the 1946 All-State team. The Associated Press named "General" on its All-State second team this season.

June was hindered by illness last football season, but recovered sufficiently to participate in several games. At present he is beginning his second season with the Bengal baseball team. Last year June performed at first base and proved invaluable on defense.

Edgar Allen Poe was the first man to use a noseguard in football in 1890. A broken nose caused Poe to bring the guard into use.

Clemson's punching boxers were nosed out by a very meager margin in the Southern Conference Boxing Tournament by the Old Liners from the University of Maryland with a score of 22-19. These fighting squads were followed by the University of North Carolina, The Citadel, and the University of South Carolina. Carl Pulkinen, engineering freshman of Charleston, and Jerry Orr of Clemson, two members of the Bengal tourney squad, captured individual honors in their respective classes.

In a hard fought preliminary scrap, the mighty "Spook" Pulkinen won a decision over Marion Watson of the University of South Carolina.

Starting the semi-final bouts with a bang, Johnny Lindsey, the Mighty Mite, knocked out Marion Watson Dawes of the Gamecock squad in short order to insure his appearance in the finals. In his division Jerry Orr, the Clemson Wonder Boy, scored a TKO over his worthy opponent, Lawrence Harris of the Citadel. The classy Tiger welterweight, Ed Maney, was decisive in a close fight with Tom Maloney of the University of Maryland. In a brief bout of 1 minute 10 seconds duration, hard punching Bill Brown of the Bengal squad knocked out Al Sinder of the University of South Carolina.

"Rusty" Donkle, promising Tiger light-heavyweight, lost a close decision to Chuck Spann of the University of South Carolina. In the unlimited class Clemson's Bill Hunter won his fight when the Tarheel entry, Bill Speigal, was scratched. As a result of the fine showing made by the Tiger mittmen in the semi-finals five starwart Bengal boxers qualified for the conference finals.

Bill Sunas of the University of North Carolina eked out a very close decision over little Johnny Lindsey of Clemson to begin the final round of the conference tourney. Hard hitting Jerry Orr lost no time in winning his fight, knocking out his opponent, Charlie Lamberth of the University of North Carolina, in 1 minute and 10 seconds of the second round. Speedy Carl Pulkinen pounded out a decision over Dan Smith of the University of Maryland when the fight was stopped at the end of the second round after the Maryland boxer suffered a deep cut over his left eye.

Co C-4 Pershing Rifles Chooses New Members; Initiation In Near Future

Property Damages Announced by College

Clemson students damage a total of $2,000 worth of college equipment and property each month according to a release by Hamilton Hill of the Business Manager's office.

All barracks share equally in the damage, which includes broken window panes, transoms, door panels, screens, door knobs, and mattresses.

The College plans to make certain safety improvements in the barracks. To do this, destruction of property must be held at a minimum.

Painting of the inside of the Parish House was recently completed by the members of the Canterbury Club.

Out of 150 competitors, Company C-4 of the National Organization of Pershing Rifles, chose thirty new members. These men were selected from members of the freshman and sophomore R. O. T. C. classes. They were chosen for their proficiency in all types of military close and extended order drill, as well as for their military bearing.

The new members are: F. L. Lancaster, C. H. Hamilton, H. F. Adickes, J. E. Brumley, J. C. Ulrick, R. B. Cromwell, G. N. Thompson, A. S. McKay, J. B. Kirven, H. E. Smith, W. F. Marscher, W. D. Peake, J. C. Eargle, A. J. Banks, R. W. Berry, R. L. McCleod, W. E. Darby, and P. R. Rice.

Also N. E. Davis, W. C. Greseto, W. C. Hasek, F. A. McClure, D. A. Arnold, T. M. McCurry, H. L. Hance, H. E. Ulmer, M. A. Clark, G. R. Timmerman, G. E. Ficklin, and F. D. Suggs.

There were six alternate members selected also. They are: R. H. Holley, J. D. Chastain, B. K. Sutton, L. A. Mitchell, W. D. Matthews, and H. C. McMillan.

These men will undergo a 10 days period of informal initiation in the near future and will participate in all Pershing Rifle activities until they reach their junior year. After that time, they will be inactive members.

'Y' Schedules Movies At Rate of 300 Yearly

Clemson College has more than 300 pictures shown in its YMCA theaters every year. This number is as many as a city of 35,000 with four theaters.

Frequently there is a possibility of scheduling two Grade A pictures on the same date. Unless these dates are accepted, it may be weeks or months before the films can be brought back to the campus; hence, the conflict between good shows at times.

Coming soon to YMCA theaters are the hit shows: "The Show Off," "Undercurrent," "White Tie and Tails," "Lady in the Dark," "Margie," and "Humoresque."

Ann Coil Chosen Queen of Co. C-4

Miss Ann Coil, student at Winthrop, was selected Saturday night, March 1, 1947, as new honorary queen of Co. "C-4," Pershing Rifles.

Ann, an attractive brunette from Abbeville, was selected from a group of thirteen girls, all of whom were guests of Pershing Rifle members at the annual banquet.

In a ceremony held shortly after intermission of the Saturday night dance, Miss Coil and her date, Decece Fant, of Anderson, were called to the platform. Captain G. C. Salvo then presented her with a gold trophy symbolic of her position as queen of the organization.

The new queen is expected to be on hand Mother Day to review the Pershing Rifle company at a special drill put on for the benefit of campus visitors.

Oldest Up-Country Church Located In The Shadow Of Main Building

Old Stone Church, one of the oldest churches in upper South Carolina, is situated just about two miles from Tillman Hall on an old country road that runs from Clemson to Pendleton. This church was organized in 1785 and the present building was constructed in 1797.

The church organization was known as Hopewell on the Keowee and was one of the oldest Presbyterian congregations in northwestern South Carolina. General Andrew Pickens, one of the founders, named this church for his old one in Abbeville country. The first church was of logs and stood about one mile from the present structure. This church, Hopewell, was the parent of the Presbyterian church in Pendleton.

John Miller gave the land for the church and cemetery, a tract of land that covered about seven acres. Miller was an English printer who defied the officers of George III and published articles held to be libelous by the British courts. After being imprisoned several times he migrated to America and eventually came to Pendleton where he died.

Miller's Weekly. The paper was known as The Pendleton Messenger.

Miller is buried in the cemetery of this old church. General Pickens, the Revolutionary hero and one of the founders and first elders of Hopewell, and Colonel Robert Anderson, another Revolutionary hero, was also a founder and elder. General Pickens lies in the brick enclosure. Near him lies the remains of his son, Andrew, governor of South Carolina during the War of 1812.

A grave that attracts much interest is that of Turner Bynum, who is buried in the center of the cemetery. Bynum was a young journalist who was killed in a duel in the Nullification controversy in 1832.

Many Clemson professors and their families are now buried in this small enclosed churchyard.

Seven Men In Ag Graduate School

Seven former Clemson students, six graduates of this institution and one graduate of Tarkio College in Missouri, are now enrolled here in the Graduate School. These students look forward to receiving their Master of Science degree in Agricultural Economics.

These men are George H. Burnett, of Florence; Dennis E. Crawford, of Clemson; Robert F. Ferrier, of Clemson; Jackson V. McElwee, of Washington, District of Columbia; Joe A. Martin, of Bowersville, Georgia; James S. Plaxico, of Sharon; and Boyd J. Todd, of Loris.

The men are taking advanced work in the fields of marketing, farm management, statistics, economic theory, international trade, and research methods. They are the first students to enroll under the program of graduate training leading to advanced degrees which were authorized by the Clemson Board of Trustees about a year ago.

Military Department Shows Series of Films

"Battle of Russia," fifth film in the series, "Why We Fight," will be shown in the college chapel tonight.

These films, sent from the central film library of the Seventh Army Headquarters in Atlanta, are being shown under the supervision of Major Rankin, plans and training officer on the commandant's staff.

Tonight's film gives a portrayal of the historical background of Russia and its battle for survival in World War II up to the siege of Stalingrad. Films shown the past four weeks were "Prelude to War," "The Nazis Strike," "Divide and Conquer," and "Battle of Britain."

Major Rankin expressed surprise at the small audiences which have attended the shows. He stated that the films are not shown for the benefit of any special group, but are of general interest, therefore being free of charge and open to the public.

College Completes Many New Projects

Several new construction and landscaping jobs have recently been completed by the Construction and Repair Department.

A new "Hog Hotel" has just been finished for the Animal Husbandry Department. This new building is equipped with concrete floors, electric lights and individual compartments for each hog.

Junior-Senior Plans Call For Banquet And Dance At End Of May

Arrangements were made at a recent Junior Class meeting to have the Junior-Senior banquet in the college mess hall, according to J. G. Hardee, agriculture economics junior from Loris, president of the Junior class.

Plans for the Junior-Senior dance were also discussed, but the date has not been definitely decided upon. The banquet and dance, however, will probably take place in the latter part of May.

Action was taken at the meeting to get a junior class play started. Professor R. E. Ware of the Zoology Department and Professor W. G. Miller of the Mathematics Department have consented to assist in directing the play.

Announcements will be made in the near future for a meeting of all juniors interested in taking part in the play.

Co. F Wins Recent Stunt Program

Company "F" won first place in the recent Stunt Night with the skit, "The Debut." This is the second time in two years that this company has won.

Characters were Mrs. Puddle, by "R. O." Watson; Dr. O. P. Swine by T. B. Love; Mrs. Swine by E. L. Bonnoit; Dr. Rupert Bailer by J. R. Coney; Miss Skip-hop Jackson, by N. N. Harter; Col. A. J. Jackson, by E. E. Norris; Mrs. Jackson, by R. H. Heintz; and The Butler, by D. L. Craig. P. H. Bultman was director.

Members of the skit were honored at a steak supper at "Y" Cafeteria.

Professor LaMaster Elected To Dairy Post

Professor J. P. LaMaster, head of the Clemson Dairy Department, was elected vice-president of the South Carolina Brown Swiss Breeders Association at a meeting in Westminster.

In an address LaMaster pointed out the possibilities for use of the milk of the Brown Swiss Cattle in the production of blue mold cheese at their plant on Stump House mountain near Walhalla.

MISS ANDERSON HONORED

Miss Harriet Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Anderson, of Clemson, has been named to the Dean's list at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri.

To attain this honor a student must rank scholastically in the upper seven per cent of the student body of 2,225 girls.

An experimental house, the most recent project of the Building Department, made from the new product, vermiculite, has been completed. This building is at the Poultry Farm, ready for use. It is fireproof and insulated.

Music Room One Of Most Popular Places Here; Is Used Extensively

By BOB RAYLE

One of the most popular and perhaps most overworked spots here at Clemson is the Music Room, which is located on the ground floor of the Library.

It is used for everything from music appreciation classes to Orchestra practice, and between these times it is a never-ending source of pleasure for local music lovers.

The room got its start in 1936 when former President E. W. Sikes wrote to the Carnegie Corporation of New York, asking them to donate one of the college music sets to Clemson.

This set consists of an electric phonograph, about 900 records, a record cabinet, index cards for all the records, bound copies of the full scores of many operas and oratorios, and 100 books on music subjects. Recent additions to the collection have brought the total of records up to 1,200. They are all classic and light classics, with one exception. That one is the Black and Tan Fantasia, by none other than Duke Ellington.

The Music Room is in almost constant use from eight in the morning till ten at night. On the average, twenty-five students per day use the room and its facilities to listen to their favorite symphonies and operas. Two sections of music appreciation class meet there three times a week, and the Brigadeers Orchestra practices there three evenings a week. Also, the Extension Service often makes radio broadcasts from this room.

So, if you want to use the Music Room, line forms at the rear, please!

Dr. J. Alex Herring, war missionary to China before the war, led a group of Baptist Students in a mission study course the past Friday and Saturday and also delivered the sermon at the Baptist Church on Sunday.

Dr. J. Alexander Herring's parents were missionaries to southern China where he lived until he was ten years of age at which time he came to this country to gain an education. He graduated from the Baptist Institute and in 1935 was appointed for service in south China. Dr. Herring now holds a pastorate in Greenville while waiting to return to China in the Summer of 1947.

PSA Meeting Of Last Week Hears Crouch

Dr. S. J. L. Crouch led the discussion at the Presbyterian Student Association meeting last week on the subject "What's Right and Wrong with the Church."

Professor B. E. Gooddale will speak at the meeting of the group this week. On March 26 the Association will have a point meeting with the Presbyterian girls of Furman.

A student communion service will be held on April 2 in the church. Student organizations of other churches on the campus will participate. This type of service is one of the first of its kind to be held at Clemson.

The "Thought for Today," which appears every day on the Main Desk at the Clemson Library, is written by Mitchell Reams, one of the professional librarians.
